Samantha is a registered U.S. patent attorney who concentrates her practice on the preparation and prosecution of patent applications domestically and internationally. She enjoys talking to engineers in inventor disclosure meetings and learning more about different industries. Thus far, Samantha has technical experience in augmented and virtual reality devices, wireless power transmitters, hand tools, heart valve implants, ENT surgical devices, intravenous therapy, ultrasonic transducers and probes, vision care methods, and brain computer interfaces.

Samantha has a Bachelor of Science in Mechanical Engineering from UCLA and a Juris Doctor degree from Chapman Law School.

In her free time, she likes to read, work on jigsaw puzzles, and host board game nights for her friends.
